Scorpio

(Oct. 23 – Nov. 21)

In 1999/2000, you stepped up to the plate. Major changes with partnerships made you proactive about going after your dreams, and you've never looked back. Around 2005/2006, you began to see the fruits of your labour. In the last three years, interactions with others were challenging. The more you became involved with groups through work and social networks, the tougher it was to maintain your integrity and independence. Fortunately, your self-confidence and poise carried the day in 2006, and, in 2007, new moneymaking ideas started percolating in your brain. Ka-ching! You were bold about trying new paths and pioneering ideas. Now is the time to expand or improve your home scene through investments or renovations. Whatever is superfluous will be history. Next year is one of the most fun-loving, romantic, playful years in over a decade! Mantra "I'm grateful for my precious family and home." Summer anthem Scorpio's natural sex appeal will find perfect accompaniment in the electro beats—and naughty lyrics—of Tiga's "What You Need."

Floral wedges put a sweet spin on Scorpio's passionate nature ($110, Rockport).

Sagittarius

(Nov. 22 – Dec. 21)

Do you remember how hard you worked to make a home for yourself in the early '90s? Sheesh! (You love travelling the world, but even you need a nice place to come home to.) After busting your buns at work in the late '90s, you made a breakthrough around 2001: "I'm on it!" The good news was that your ambition was aroused; the bad news was that partnerships took a dive. (Ouch.) Then, from 2003 to 2006, you were forced to get by on less because support from others diminished. (More ouch.) Fortunately, in the last few years you have bounced back big time—you've been on top of your game (and still are). You're confident: You know what you want and what you don't want. Many of you have brilliant money-making ideas to help boost your income. This good influence will continue for the rest of this year. The reason you're cooking on all burners is because Jupiter is boosting your optimism and your ability to maintain a positive frame of mind. This is critical for you! Optimism and physical activity are key survival issues for Sagittarius. (You're a hustler—and I mean this in the most positive way!) Mantra "I'm making hay while the sun shines!" Summer

Fun-loving Sagittarius will find some shade under playful straw hats ($1,000 each, Hermès).

anthem Brent Randall's bubbly cabaret pop tune "Bluebirds, Flowers and Other Things" feels like a sunny '70s day, and that suits upbeat Sagittarius just fine.

Capricorn

(Dec. 22 – Jan. 19)

In many ways, you're in the most fortunate position of all 12 signs. But, hey, you deserve it. All through the '90s, you struggled with who you were, what your values were and where you should work. By the turn of the millennium, you were working so hard that, at times, you felt overwhelmed. Partnerships were challenging around 2003/2004, but that didn't hold you back. In fact, the lack of support simply stiffened your spine. In 2007, your confidence returned—along with your poise and diplomacy. Now, your assured strength will translate into an increase in assets through purchases and investments. Everything you've been working for is about to come to fruition. In late fall, a planetary shift will promote your good Practical Capricorn will love sitting poolside in a preppy bikini ($220, Destineau). For details, see Shopping Guide.

name. The recognition and respect you've been craving will finally be yours. Mantra "Everything I've been working for is within my grasp." Summer anthem Capricorn can zone out to the synth-pop "Hey You Guys" by Circlesquare. □
